These tests are similar to those that your physician would order were you to undergo anesthesia. In addition, the results of these tests will serve as a reference value for future use if your pet should become ill. These tests are required if your pet is over the age of 7 years and undergoing anesthesia.

Complete Blood Count: Analyzes immune status (screens for infection, anemia, and the presence of adequate platelets).

Chemistry: Analyzes liver and kidney values, blood glucose, blood protein levels, and electrolytes.

IV Catheter and Fluid Therapy: Helps to maintain hydration and blood pressure during anesthesia and aids in a quicker and smoother recovery after procedure.

Dental X-rays: Dental x-rays allow us to evaluate dental health under the gumline. Large periodontal pockets, missing or fractured teeth would cause us to recommend dental x-rays to guide us with our plan of care for your pets mouth. The cost is $10.00 per x-ray and a maximum cost of $50.00 for full mouth x-rays.
Complicated extractions WILL NOT be performed without x-rays.

I am aware that a referral for hospitalization to a 24-hour critical care hospital is an option and I have elected to have my pet treated at Northwood Veterinary Service. I am aware that my pet will be unattended during the overnight hours. However, every precaution will be taken to ensure that my pet will receive the treatment and medication prescribed. If my pet's condition is unstable and very serious, I understand that referral to a 24-hour critical care hospital is highly recommended as it is against medical advice to have my pet unmonitored overnight.
